

THE VILLAGE OF
Maple Bluff
NEWSLETTER

The 6th Grade Boys Basketball Team

ON JANUARY 13, the Village Caucus was held at the Village Center Gym. The caucus is the method used by the village to identify candidates for elected office. The term "caucus" is most commonly associated with the "Iowa Caucuses" during the early part of the Presidential Primaries.

In Maple Bluff, we convene at 7pm on the second Tuesday of January each year for the caucus. The village president reads from a script that introduces the caucus process. During that introduction, the offices and the person who holds that office that are up for election for this year are identified. Each year, three village trustee positions are up for election. In the odd number years (like 2015), the village president position is also up for election. Every four years, the Village Municipal Judge is also up for election.

After the introduction is completed, nominations are taken from the floor. The village president is typically first if the seat is up for election. Any person who lives in the village can identify themselves and make a nomination for the person of their choosing. That nomination must receive a second. Any person residing in the village can second that nomination. There is not a vote taken at the caucus unless there are more candidates than available seats. For each office, there can be two candidates on the ballot. If there were three people nominated at the caucus, then polling (a vote) of those present at the caucus would be taken. The two highest vote tallies would be placed on the ballot.

In my time with this village, I have never seen two candidates on the ballot for president. Generally, there is one person who is put into nomination and, due to lack of additional candidates nominated, they take the office by default.

However, they still need to have the most votes on Election Day. So please vote on Tuesday, April 7. That same thing is true this year. Village Trustee Jim Schuler was the only candidate nominated on the third Tuesday in April. If he gets the most votes, Jim will assume the duties as village president.

For the three open village trustee positions, current Village President Eric McLeod was nominated for trustee. Also, current Village Trustee Tim O'Brien and current Village Fire/EMS Committee Chair Carl Vieth were nominated. All three will be on the ballot and will be running unopposed. One year, we actually had seven candidates nominated for village trustee and had to have a run off at the Caucus. Since he will be on the village board come April, Carl Vieth was appointed to the village board early to complete the remaining term of Martha Grasty, who resigned late last year. In Hockey terms, we are now back to full strength!

Congratulations to all who have agreed to commit a portion of their time in service to the village. I try to remind residents regularly that it's their neighbors who step forward to provide leadership to the village. We would be lost without them, their guidance, and their tough decision making. This includes our village board members, but also any resident who serves on committees, boards, or volunteers their time. Thank you so much!

The Village Plan Commission held a Pre-Application conference with Developer Joe McCormick in early January to hold discussions about his ideas for a multi-story apartment building at the corner of Roxbury and North Sherman Avenue. The Plan Commission and neighbors provided feedback on the concept. It is now up to the developer to take that feedback and come back with a formal proposal. It is also possible that additional draft concepts could be discussed more informally before a formal proposal is filed.

Remember that if you want more regular updates on news from the village, you can get on to the village email list. We send emails weekly about a variety of topics including recreation programs, events, activities, and just general information from around the village. If you send an email to tjkrueger@villageofmaplebluff.org, I will be sure to get you added!

Dear Residents,

It's that time of year when many are going on vacations to a warmer climate. Thankfully, we had a pretty mild winter through January, but when those bone chilling temperatures did hit us, it was certainly hard to endure. I do envy those who are able to head south during these cold months. If you are going on vacation, I welcome you to share your photos and memories with us!

We all know February as the month of love. Growing up, we always celebrated Valentine's Day as a family. When my siblings and I woke up, there would always be a card and chocolate on the kitchen table for each of us from our parents. So, it's not just a couple's holiday to me. I think of it as a day to tell those around us how much we care for them. I wish you a wonderful Valentine's Day with your loved ones!

As always, if you are interested in being featured in the magazine or know a family who might like to be featured, please do not hesitate to send me an email!

Best,

Erin Vander Weele

THE HOLIDAY SEASON is behind us, the New Year is already a month old and spring is but 6-8 weeks away! Try as one can to escape, the cold of the present is still upon us. Nonetheless, the winter for the most part has been fairly mild and unremarkable, less a stretch of cold arctic air in early January. There is a warming trend forecast and with that I am sure everyone will begin to think about spring. February is an excellent month to inventory space available to plant new trees and shrubs once spring does arrive. Planting trees is one of the most appealing tasks that we do here in the village. I look forward to that assignment every year. While looking for new locations for planting, we will also assess the condition of existing trees along terraces and parkways. Should the weather remain mild, we will be able to begin pruning, trimming and addressing any hazard reduction needs that are identified.

If you are a gardener with the itch to expand your horizons, or maybe just help beautify the village once winter gives way to spring, give us a call at the Village Center to see if we can help with the scratch. We will have some prime locations along Lakewood Blvd. to display your talents!

I have the feeling those residents who reside in the areas of construction probably landscaped at a reduced level last year. Should this year be one where your landscaping desires are extensive, please be good stewards and advise service providers that there is a permit required to occupy village right of way, which includes the street! This permission is necessary to insure that proper clean up occurs once the work is done. Just like with leaves or other yard waste that should be placed on terrace and not in the street, we do not want debris to be transferred with rain water into the storm system and out into the lake. Good housekeeping benefits all of us!

We still have some time before the cold weather moves on, so keep in mind that winter weather conditions will continue to exist and that snow and or mixed precipitation is a low pressure system away. Be prepared and drive defensively.

When recyclable needs go beyond your container, you have the option to call the contractor, Advanced Disposal @251-7878 to make arrangements for a hand collection. Without prior notice, they will not pick up material outside of the recycle cart.

When you have questions or need an appliance collected, please call the Village Center @244-3048 to make arrangements or help finding a solution to your needs.

If you receive a request for an in home cross connection survey, please respond. If you would like to request a cross connection survey, please call the Village Center to arrange one. The survey would be done by village staff and takes 20-30 minutes and is a mandate of the DNR to help insure water quality for all of us.

Please, do not hesitate to call with your questions and concerns! Looking forward to a great 2015!

Annual Report: In January, our department submitted an annual report to the Village of Maple Bluff Board. This report included statistical data about emergency calls for service and detailed department training/event information for 2014. You may download a copy of that report by visiting our website: www.mapleblufffire.com.

Extrication Tools: On December 23, 2014 our department took delivery of a new set of TNT brand vehicle extrication equipment purchased by the Maple Bluff Fire Rescue Association. A representative from TNT attended our January 5 department training to inform our members of the tool's capabilities, limitations, and care & maintenance procedures. The tools have been placed on our Engine #2 and are ready to be utilized in the event of an emergency.

Fire Rescue Association Elections: The Maple Bluff Fire Rescue Association held their annual dinner and election of officers on January 8, 2015. The Association's officers for 2015 are: President: Trevor Easton, Vice President: Colten Kinnison, Treasurer: Jeffrey Jensen, Secretary: Dylan Bowman.

Village Gym Policies

Over the past several weeks, I have received several questions/concerns regarding the village's gym and its availability.

→ The village gym is intended for village residents and their guests. The village does not post "Open Gym" hours, but if there is no Recreation program, community meeting/event or rental in the gym it is available for "open use".

Reminders regarding open use:

1. All users must sign in and pay at the Fire Department window in legible handwriting.
2. Each resident is allowed up to three non-residents with them during "open gym" hours. If residents have more than three non-residents they are required to reserve the gym.
3. The hoops are to remain at 10' in height and there is absolutely no dunking, hanging from the rim.
4. Respect others using the gym or waiting to use the gym
5. If people are waiting, no full court games are allowed.
6. When you are finished, put all equipment back where you found it and pick up your trash.

Kristian Finrock and Retirement Income Strategies

Helping You Invest for the Promised Land

BY ERIN VANDER WEELE

“MONEY DOESN'T HAVE to be this scary subject that people avoid,” Kristian Finrock assures. “With the proper planning, education, and proactive approach, it can be a fun and exciting subject.” Kristian has good reason for wanting to demystify the subject of financial planning as he witnessed the negative effects of poor financial advice while growing up.

“I was raised by a very poor family,” Kristian shares. “I am the oldest of three boys and I am the only member of my family to graduate high school, let alone go to college. I joined the Army as a way to make a difference with the thought of being a crime fighting FBI agent.” In the end, Kristian ended up being a military police officer for five years and graduated summa cum laude with a degree in criminal justice.

And then something happened that changed the course of Kristian's career and life. “I watched my parents lose their entire life savings in the stock market collapse of 2000, 2001, and 2002,” explains Kristian. “I decided right then and there what I was going to do with my life. I went back to school as a working adult and received the education necessary to get me into the financial world. I swore I would never let my friends or clients end up like my parents.”

Kristian is the founder and financial advisor for Retirement Income Strategies, a comprehensive wealth management and financial planning firm for people at or very near retirement, as well as for more affluent families in the Midwest. “We cover retirement planning, wealth management, estate and tax planning,” Kristian says.

At his side in life and in business is his wife, Kristie, who works as the operations manager and marketing coordinator for Retirement Income Strategies. “We have been together for 14 years and married for eight,” Kristian shares.

With offices in Madison, Evansville, and Brookfield, Retirement Income Strategies is the capstone of Kristian's career in finance. “I have been in financial services for over a decade,” states Kristian. “After five very successful years as a top advisor for a large international retail financial advisory office here in Madison, I left to form my own independent firm to work as a fiduciary for my clients.”

As a fiduciary, the advisors at Retirement Income Strategies are legally required to do what is in their client's best interest. “This is different than the suitability standard followed by most brokers who work for a company,” explains Kristian. “Our strategies are built around fee disclosure and transparency, as well as investment fundamentals where the goal is preservation of principal and income-generating strategies and tools.”

“My true joy comes from the educational side of my business,” Kristian states. “I love teaching and educating our clients on all aspects of financial planning. We strive to teach the good, bad, and strings attached to all investments, products, and strategies that we offer. This is opposite of a sales mentality where only the good stuff is discussed. We believe every option for investment out there has all three sides: the good, the bad, and strings attached. Clients need to see the whole picture.”

For Kristian, the whole picture of his life includes his young family. “Kristie and I have two daughters, Kaitlynn, 13, and Kendra, 10,” Kristian shares. “They are both very active in sports. Kaitlynn is an AAU basketball player and Kendra competes at a high level in soccer.” Both Kristie and Kristian are very involved in their church, St. John’s Lutheran Church, in Evansville where the family resides. “When we are not working or at church, we enjoy traveling as a family and occasionally taking too many swings on the golf course.”

When it comes to his life’s work and career, Kristian finds satisfaction circumventing the “rags to riches to rags” tragedy that happened to his parents. “I really enjoy when we can take a client from the accumulation phase into the preservation phase and teach them how to retire for good,” Kristian shares. “My greatest joy is educating our clients why they spent so much time and effort and made so many sacrifices to get their life savings ready for the ‘promised land’ that is retirement.”

Local Veterans Share Their Stories

Bob Buchta

UPON COLLEGE GRADUATION in the early '60s, Bob Buchta became eligible for the draft. Instead, he chose to join the Air Force as an officer. Vietnam was escalating and the Cold War was at its peak -- the Cuban Missile Crisis took place during Bob's 90 days of training to become an officer.

Bob's first assignment was as a munitions maintenance officer overseeing flight line munitions operations at a fighter pilot training base, Luke AFB, AZ. But the Air Force needed officers with advanced degrees to manage the research and development of future weapons, command/control systems, and advanced aircraft -- so Bob was selected to attend Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute where he obtained a master's degree in engineering management.

Subsequently, he was assigned to the Special Operations Force in Florida where he and other officers managed the modification of vintage WW II weapons and aircraft for use by Special Forces and the South Vietnamese Air Force. Bob got to fly as a test engineer on some old "birds", including the A-1E Skyraider and AC-130 Gunship.

A follow on assignment was to the A-10 System Program Office, Wright-Patterson AFB, OH. This office developed from paper- to- production the A-10 Thunderbolt II aircraft (later affectionately called the "Warthog"). Bob managed the development of the A-10's 30mm "tank killer" ammunition, which was successfully used during the Gulf War, Afghanistan, and is still currently used in today's conflicts.

Later in his career, Bob became Assistant Director of Engineering for the Advanced Airborne Command Post (also known as the "Doomsday Aircraft"), a Boeing 747, which was militarized and housed sophisticated command/control systems, as well as a full spectrum of communications equipment. This aircraft was designed as a survivable command center for "National Command Authorities" (i.e. the president, SECDEF, etc) in case of nuclear attack.

Toward the end of his career, Bob became Director of Missile Warning Systems at Hanscom AFB near Boston. There he managed a group of about 250 military, civilian, and contractor personnel developing modifications and upgrades to the sensors and command and control systems that are part of the nation's early warning network in case of a missile attack.

Three of Bob's uncles served in WWII, one as a marine fighting throughout the Pacific. Bob's eldest grandson is currently an Air Force officer serving in Germany. Bob retired as a colonel in December 1986.
